

MARIN CAMFT PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

2017 President, Patricia Saunders, LMFT

Keeping spirits high has been challenging this year, starting with the loss of our colleague Kristi Carey. And it has also been hard to watch the small but strong band of volunteers carrying such a heavy load – straining to keep us afloat. My recent letter was an attempt at spreading the word that we were wearing thin. When I stated that we were in jeopardy, it was no exaggeration. At the time of this writing about a dozen people (out of 350 members) responded, expressing that they wanted to get involved and that resulted in some of the open positions being filled for 2018. While I am excited that we have some new faces on your Board, we still need someone to take the helm as President, which is disheartening.

I believe that the Chapter is a very influential one and that we have done some leading-edge work over the past years. Of course, this could not happen without those who year after year continue to step up – special thanks to: Marty Frankel, Pam Sweeney and Laurie Buntain for their continued participation on the Board, to Renee Owen for her assistance on the newsletter and Myron Walters for being the guardian of the listserv. Others who have played important roles over the last two years are Stacy Ford and Vicki Goodman.

Our committees may have diminished in number, but several veteran volunteers have worked hard to keep things going. Marty Frankel, Pam Sweeney and Laurie Buntain have done double (and sometimes triple) duty – serving on the Board and on Committees at the same time, determined to put on great workshops and Friday lectures, ensure our ability to provide CEUs, keep our bylaws current, write and publish our newsletter, manage our website and manage our budget. Others who have assisted on committees include: Scott Nelson and Victoria Herzog on the Friday CE team, Mary Jane DeWolfe - Smith on the Workshop Committee, Bill Barton on the Trauma Response Team, Suzanne Alfandari and Alane Freund on the Scholarship Committee and Susan Holland, Vicki Goodman and Jen Couture on the Mentoring team.

This is the last article that I will write as your President and I want to thank you for the opportunity to serve the Chapter once again. I will be Past President in 2018 and hope to have a President and a Board who are as enthusiastic and excited about the future of our Chapter as we have been over the past two years. I believe that we will have a strong team with new ideas and energy and I look forward to supporting those efforts.

MARIN CAMFT HIKES! Taking advantage of the terrific summer weather Marin has enjoyed, Lisa Lund has organized three hikes for Marin CAMFT members over the past five months. On Saturday May 19 Lisa and several fellow trekkers walked the Tennessee Valley trail to the beach: see the photos below!

On Saturday, August 5, the Marin CAMFT hiking contingent took an easy 5 mile meander from Blackie's Pasture to downtown Tiburon.

And today, Saturday, October 7, the target was Bon Tempe Lake - a more ambitious 4 mile hike in Marin's beautiful hills.

I wonder where Lisa Lund and the Marin CAMFT hiking contingent will go next!

OCTOBER 13 FRIDAY CONTINUING EDUCATION SERIES

What You Don't Know Could Hurt Your Practice: Implicit Bias, Victoria Herzog, LMFT

Everyone is biased, no matter how open-minded or educated and regardless of political beliefs it's an inevitable aspect of being human. Also known as unconscious bias, implicit bias can be positive or negative and can come in many forms, including innate tendencies as well as internalized beliefs, about a variety of cultural facets. Regardless of their or they are not aware of the the trouble they might cause in your professional (as well as personal) relationships.

In this training, Victoria explains the causes and types of implicit bias, then focuses on helping attendees better understand and begin addressing their own. The training will also help attendees understand how implicit bias may show up in the practice of psychotherapy, and offer suggestions on how to work with biases in clients.

Victoria Herzog is a licensed marriage and family therapist, clinical supervisor, trainer, and consultant who specializes in working with teens, families, couples, and young adults in English, Spanish, and Portuguese. As an immigrant with a multicultural background, she provides Culturally Inclusive Therapy and is knowledgeable about a variety of cultural aspects including implicit bias, acculturation gaps, and socioeconomic, religious, and racial/ethnic differences, as well as sexual and gender minorities. Victoria worked for many years in community agencies, schools, and a reproductive clinic for teens and young adults before opening a full-time practice in Novato.

NOVEMBER 10 FRIDAY CONTINUING EDUCATION SERIES

Fathers, Families and Gender in Our Therapeutic Work, Lew Epstein, LCSW

This talk will explore the changing roles of fathers along with some effective ways to engage men in treatment. It will also examine the family systems concept of coaching as an approach to working with both men and women and show how gender issues can often be the missing piece in our work with couples. Family genograms will be used to illustrate the work done with one man's inner problem and excerpts from More Coaching for Fatherhood will be read to further supplement and illustrate the process.

One of the goals of this talk is to review for clinicians the multi-generational family of origin approach to therapy. It is also to introduce the concept of coaching as an effective approach to working with men in general and fathers in particular. It will offer specific uses of the family genogram as a tool in the process of change. Practitioners should also come away with some of the things to look for in sessions that would indicate the presence of gender issues and the ways to best address them.

Lewis Epstein is a psychotherapist and family therapist since 1979. He holds a Masters degree from Hunter College School of Social Work and has conducted classes in Human Development and the Family on both the graduate and undergraduate college levels. He is the author of Coaching for Fatherhood (1996) and a second, expanded edition, More Coaching for Fatherhood, (2008.) He is a frequent speaker and workshop provider for parents groups and other organizations. He has also taught in the public schools of New York City on both the elementary and high school level and has worked for their Committee on Special Education. He has been a counsellor for police officers in the NYPD and was involved in the treatment of first responders following the World Trade Center attacks in 2001. He has a blog titled Inside the Hour @ www.lewisepstein.com.

He is a father, and grandfather living in Tiburon and has a private practice in Mill Valley.

ZEN IN THE ART OF BIKER MAINTENANCE

A MEN'S GROUP for BIKERS

Are you wondering maybe...

- Finally got the big bike... and still depressed?
- Bud just died in a crash... What do I do with my grief?
- Still riding solo... Why am I so alone?
- Do I hit ALL the bars on the poker run?
- Getting "too old" to ride... How did I get "too old"?
- Life is a big fun ride... And then I die?

The Biker Maintenance men's group will address these and countless other situations of daily life (work, family, relationships, death, etc.). It will provide support and help us find a firm footing among the concerns underlying those situations (stress, depression, loneliness, self-esteem, substance use and abuse, etc.) as well as a few existential issues (how do I cultivate a sense of caring, belonging and meaning? What would I want my family and my friends to remember me by?)

Prerequisites: A willingness to share our truths – no mask, no pretense, no attitude; an open mind and a sincere motivation to support other members of the group even when we don't agree with them.

Note: We will cover the basics of mindfulness/zen training to help delve deeper in search of our authentic self. Although not a requirement, and not a prerequisite, a dedicated practice of these skills will greatly enhance our work.
